

Managing Competence within a 147 Organisation – 1 Day

INTRODUCTION

It is a requirement to manage competence within an EASA Part 147 Organisation and to demonstrate compliance with Annex to ED Decision 2012/004/R Appendix III.

This 1 day training presented by Sofema Aviation Services provides a comprehensive understanding of the requirement to deliver an effective Organisational Competence Management to ensure the effective Management and Measurement of Competencies within the 147 organisation.

It also provides an effective understanding regarding industry best practice techniques to prepare your nominated Competence Assessors and Managers to deliver effective Competence Management and control within your organisation.

In accordance with the regulatory requirements of EASA Part 147 The roles may be combined for:

The assessor and the instructor for the practical elements of the Type Rating Training;

Or The assessor and the supervisor for the On-the-Job Training. Providing that the objectives associated with each role are clearly understood and that the competence and qualification criteria according to the company's procedures are met for both functions.

As part of the Competence Management Process the individual needs of each instructor should be ascertained at both the initial and annual competency review when typically the Instructor personal development will be discussed and any associated training need assessed.

The course is a highly participative and stimulates involvement and provides powerful motivation to introduce the delegate to a comprehensive understanding of the necessary processes and skills to implement effective Competence Management and Assessment processes within organization.
