Where can I attend SAS Training?

Sofema Aviation Services (SAS) www.sassofia.com offers EASA Compliant regulatory training in many different locations including Dubai, Manchester, Dublin, Sofia, London, Bucharest, Johannesburg, Bangkok, Manila, Hong Kong, Jakarta and Singapore.

But wait there is more! - Because of our flexibility there are several ways we can deliver training either in your work place as an "in company" training or as open training but available at or near your work location.

How can I organize my own Training Course?

So it all depends on Numbers! We have tried to be flexible and offer unique solutions to the need for regulatory training.

More than 8 persons

It is most cost effective to organize a course in your own workplace at a mutually acceptable time to suit your requirements.

Less than 7 persons but more than 4 (or 5 depending on location)

So your best option is open training and we will guarantee to run the course as an open training but we need 4 to 6 weeks to market and advertise, however you may rest assured and we guarantee the training will go ahead.

More than 3 persons

We are prepared to accept the booking and market the training, again for typically 6 to 8 weeks, however we must meet minimum numbers before being able to commit to going ahead with the training.

This period of time is spent carrying out intensive marketing and raising of awareness. Because our prices are extremely reasonable we have a high probability of success and have delivered many courses in this way following a client request.

But I am on my own – Now what?

So please do still contact us as we keep a detailed record of which courses our clients are waiting for and as soon as a possibility becomes available we will be pleased to inform you. Email office@sassofia.com with your request now.

Is there another Training Option?

Sure – have you looked at our online training SofemaOnline www.sofemaonline.com where we have more than 120 different courses available now with more being added all the time.

Do you have a Webex Option?

Yes for many courses, in particular for small numbers and executive courses we are able to deliver using Webex technology and as well as an interactive training you receive an MP4 file of the complete proceedings for review purposes.

Please contact Office@sassofia.com to discuss Webex as an alternative for your small group training needs
