

FSTD Operator Regulation Training Course - 2 Days

Introduction

The introduction of Regulation (EU) 1178/2011 saw the transfer of FSTD requirements from the former JAR system to the Implementing Rules of Regulation (EC) 216/2008.

This course was developed to assist those FSTD Operators who are transitioning from the old JAR requirements as well as those for whom FSTD requirements are a new subject. This course could also be used as an introduction to the requirements for those considering the purchase of an FSTD or the introduction of additional devices.

Who is the course for?

The course is for individuals or organizations involved in operating Flight Simulation Training Devices (FSTDs). FSTDs are advanced simulators used for pilot training and proficiency checks. The course is often targeted toward FSTD operators, instructors, maintenance personnel, and other relevant staff members.

What is the Benefit of this Training – What will I learn?

This training course ensures compliance with regulations, promotes safety, optimizes simulator performance, improves maintenance practices, and enhances instructor capabilities. These benefits contribute to the effectiveness and reliability of FSTD operations, leading to better pilot training outcomes and a safer aviation industry.
